Studio Minas was established in Athens, Greece in 1981 following a decade of creative exploration and established work in New York.

The studio follows the strict jewelry manufacturing process dictated by Minas and maintains a high level of quality control to ensure his vision and philosophy is passed on to the customer.

Minas had personally designed and created every single piece of jewelry, carving it from a single piece of wax.

A family affair that continues to this day through his two sons. Every step of the process is kept in house, allowing the brand to maintain complete autonomy and freedom.

The distinctive Minas style has persisted and evolved over the years, never sacrificing our quality with respect to the craftsmanship and processes, a quality that defines the living heritage of MINAS.
